Reference: No Call Telemarketing Law.

I firmly believe that the NO CALL law in place in Indiana is EXACTELY perfect and correct for preventing UNWANTED phone calls. It has been a wonderfully effective since its passage. It does not need to be usurped by a not needed Federal Law.

A no call law should be a States Rights issue; it can be tailored to satisfy the need and wishes of the people in that state.

We DO NOT NEED a federal law to usurp an existing state law on the same subject.

We DO NOT NEED a new Federal Agency or personnel to administer the law as it would require. No new taxes, no new expenditure, no new law, just leave it alone and let the states take care of the situation.

If you need to meddle do it where we the people want it, how about some NO SPAM Legislation for the Internets unwanted email. Now there is an area that has no control, no laws, that's where you can do some good.

Yours truly,

John Mulqueen
